Partnering with Freshworks

With Freshworks being a leader in the IT Service Management (ITSM) space, there was a natural point of integration and solution value that brought our two organizations together. It's natural that when prospects and customers also realize that business value, it helps accelerate the relationship. This happened recently with one of our mutual financial services customers who was looking for help improving their operational efficiency, reducing ticket resolution times, and more effectively meet compliance with audit requirements. Seeing our partnership as the best solution on the market, they chose Freshworks and Device42 together for ITSM and asset and application discovery.

Enhanced ITSM with Automated Asset Management

Most organizations don't have a complete picture of exactly what IT resources they have in their enterprise and how those assets relate to one another. By having an effective ITSM tool fully integrated with an automated, accurate and detailed source of data about applications and IT assets, IT teams can improve mean-time-to-resolution (MTTR), automate IT tasks, reduce effort and errors, easily support audits, and more effectively identify cost saving opportunities.

IT organizations need detailed, accurate visibility into IT assets and their relationships to each other which manual discovery cannot provide. By augmenting ITSM with a fully functional CMDB supported by automated discovery and intelligent dependency mapping, IT organizations can accelerate MTTR, automate IT tasks, reduce effort and errors, remain audit ready, and quickly identify cost saving opportunities. With the right solution for IT visibility, ITSM applications become the critical and integrated resource they should always be for IT operations teams.
